DEM. DAT. CONVENTION IS HELD.

General Cellins warmly and at length culo-gized the Adulutstration of President Cleve-isnd as having trumphantly positiled bis elec-tion. The Democracy now stood on the edge of snether and perhaps greater context. With a relation to the electors nut held before for a generation—that of responsibility for the great trust of Generation, no longer critics, but crit-telaced. They were confronted by a willy, un-seruptions and desperate foe. There would be no telet en the record that would not be inagni-fied into a tdet, no circumstances not tortured and misrepresented, he disappointment not ex-appearated into a revoit, no class or creed it would not be sought to intame, no passion not, attempted to rouse, no brand that would not be willingly perpetrated. willingly perpetrated.

But the appeal of the Democratic partyls not to passion or to prejudice, to class or faction or race or eread, but to the sound common sesse, the luterest, the intelligence uoil intriolism of the American people. Upon their matchless record for the last four years and upon their entricat efforts, as yet incomplete, to reduce and equalize the lurriens of taxation, the Democrats enter the canvass. The near two fines closed by appealing to the patriolic independent citizens, who four years ago tersook their old allegiance and who since that time have nobly sustained the Administration, to remember that it is afastal error to weaken a political organization by which great reforms have been achieved, and risk them in the hands of their known adversaries. The resolution was unlepted with applicate.

Mr. Doughorty's speech was delivered with flac effect in his best style, and proused unbounded enthusiasm. When he mentioned the name of Cloveland or referred to his public acts and utterances the convention fairly shouted itself hourse. The delegates mounted the chairs, waved their hats, their cones and bandkerchiefs. The 10,000 spectators joined is the appinuous and the hand in the cast gallery helped along with horns and drums, tut their blare and noiso could searcely be heard above the general ding. Chief among its principies of party faith are the meintenance of an indissolubio union of free and indestructiblo states now about te eater upon fits sheend eentury of unexampied progress and renown; devolion to a plan of government, regulated by a written constitution structly specifying every granted power and expressly reserving to the States oc people the entire ungranted residue of power; the encuragement of n jenious populae vigilance, directed to all who have been chosen for belef terms to enact and excent the liws, and are charged with the duly of preserving peace, insuring equality and establishing justice. The Democratio pacly welcome an exacting scrutiny of the administration of the executive power, which four years ago was committed to its trust in the election of Grevee Cleveland President of the United States, and it challenges the most acarching laquiry concerning its fidelity and devolion to the piedges which then invited the suffrages of the puoplo. DINING IN AFRICA

Tootheams Vlands Relighed by the Epi

An anonymous traveler, whe pro osses to have been almost everywhere, has recently been publishing his experiences of the best (and werst) the market affords in various parts of Africa. As that dry and dusty confinent is rapidly becoming a pince of fashlonable resurt, perhaps some of eur readers may be thinking of doing't it, and if so likey would, perhaps, be glad to know "what to eal, and what to avoli," among the articles of Africa's bill of fure.

In making a selection from nature's livestock in that region, hippopotamus may be safely patronized by persons enrious lu their eating, but oleidian is to be deprecated and eschewed. A slire of hippo, we are told, "tastes like s mean proportion between bolied beef and boiled pork." "Mean proportion" is a good expression, and ne doub rery accurate. Elephant, one would think, could hardly differ much from river-horse in liber or flavor; but it does. Thu former, even if you get the porter-house cut, is rather tougher than india-rubber; the latter louder and fat as prize beef.

Eland shak is so delicious that our traveler is moved to recommend the immediate dumesileation of the animal In Christian countries. Giraffe sirloin is rare eating, but as the animal is somewhat scarce, life African tourist must not expect to dine en it more than once a week, at most. Above all tidings, we advise him to nistain from ostrich. it is said that a strong toothed Kuffir, wim can make a meal off sole leather and wire, shakes his head hope lessly at the idea of musticating a bli of ostrich gobbler.

Zebra is pronounced to be as good as veal, and porcuplae equal to hare, and our authority is quite eloquent on the subject of joensts, which he declares to m very like the famous Thames lish, the whiteinit. Join the Haplist, therefore, was not se badly off in the wilderness, with his locust and fresh honey. The African lizards are also reported paintable; but the king dish of South Africa Is the busiard-when you get it, which Is seldom.

Upon the whole, South and Central Africa are by no means oversiveked with rdible deheacies, and the tasieful epienru is advised to think twice before he leaves a land of iurtle soup, cauvaslack fineka twenty-feur-pound furkeys, saddie-back oysters and pinm-puddings for the sunny region where they ear lion, ciephant, ostrich, camelepard, porcupine, lizard and such "small deer."-N. Roman type and scripi are making heir way slowly but surely in Ger-The society for the abolition of many. thu old German letters, which, in 1866, numbered only 2,871 members, now has 3,336 on Its list, which includes teachers, physicians, booksellers and merchanis. In the last year thirty-one professors joined the league-a notable fact, in 1886, according to Hinrich's "Hiblingraphy," out of 6.316 books on artistic, scientific, mercautile and industrial subjects 5,316 were printed in reman type. As is well known, Bismarck ins set his face masi stubbornly against this reformation, which will, when fully necompitated, be for Germany, as well as for the rest of the world, a real blessing, masmuch as their barbarons system of type and script has, as It was, shut the world out of their dumain of letters.-Inland Printer.

I have been using Allcock's Ponors
PLASTERS for 20 years, and found them one of the best of family medicines. Hirlefly summing up my experience, I say that when placed on the small of the back ALL-COCK'S PLASTERS fill the body with nervous energy, and thus cure fatigue, hrain ex-haustion, dobility and kidney difficulties. For women and children I have found them invaluable. They acror irritate the skin or cause the slightest pain, but cure sore threat, croupy coughs, colds, pain in the side, back or chest, indigestion crisowel countries.
